TO CELEBRATE THE CENTENNIAL.

The One Hundredth Anniversary of Methodism.

IT WILL BE OBSERVED HERE.

Meeting Last Night at Trinity Church to Make Arrangements for the Celebration was of an Interesting Character-Stirring Speeches

At Trinity Methodist church last night the pastors and a number of the leading members of the various Methodist churches in Richmond and Manchester held a meeting to take steps to perfect arrangements for suitably celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of Methodism in the city of Richmond.

There were about 175 people present. and they met in the main audience room of the church. All the Methodist preachers in Richmond were present, and the two presiding elders—Rev. Dr. R. T. Wil-son and Rev. Dr. J. Powell Garland; also, Rev. Dr. A. G. Brown, of Nortok, formerly presiding elder of the Rich-mond district, and who was the first reserve of Trinity. pastor of Trinity.

Mr. C. W. Hardwicke then invited those present to go down into the base-ment of the church, where the ladies prepared an elegant supper. This partaken of heartily and with much

The committee retired and reported that the next meeting be held at Centenary church on the fourth Thursday in Feb-ruary to organize for the celebration, and recommended the following Commit-carried by a rising vote.

The meeting came to a close by the singing of "How Firm a Foundation."

During the discussion it was stated that there are in Richmond and Manchester 7,000 Methodists, with property valued at $300,000. They contributed during the past year for all purposes $60,000.

The Bride Elect.

Klaw & Erlanger and D. B. Stevens production of John Phillip Sousa's comic opera, "The Bride Elect," which comes to the Academy of Music next Monday and Tuesday, is now on a tour of triumphant success through the principal Southern cities. Its production in St. Louis, Nash-ville and Memphis, New Orleans, Atlania, Chattanooga was secured with the same popular enthusiasm and high criti-cal approval which characterified its cal approval which characterihed its phenonenal success in the East, where it stamped its supriority as a comic opera and a most brilliant production. Over one hundred people take part in the performance, which includes the original cast without an exception, a chorus of most attractive girls, a corps de ballet, and an augmented orchestra. The scenery and an augmented orchestra. The scenery and costumes are on a scale of unex-ampled and most costly magnificence. and taken as a whole the production will be the most elaborate ever given a comto opera in this city.

The performance was for the henceft of the Virginia Hospital and the treasury of that institution will receive a neat sum through the thoughtfulness of Manager Wells.

The entertainment went with a go.

The entertainment went with a go, every act being repeatedly encored. Little Jimmy Duffy holds his own as the bright star of the lesser stars, and provoked many a hearty laugh. The Wests mode things lively while they held the stage, as did Collins and Biren. The entire hill was pleasing and up-to-date.

The usual performance takes place to-night and the matince and night entertainment to-morrow closes another successful week at the Bijou.

Next week's bill is a good one, promising to eclipse all the past.

CHARGE OF MURDER

An Exciting Trial in the Court of Giles County.

KILLED HIS SON - IN - LAW.

The Wife of the Man Who was Killed Mortgaged the Farm to Prosecute Her Father, but Afterwards Tried to Acquit Him, PEARISBURG, VA., January 21.—Special.—The most exciting trial which has taken place in Giles county in thirty years was ended to-night when the jury brought in a verdict of "Not guilty," in the case of Commonwealth vs. John S.

The Commonwealth's attorney was assisted by Robert N. French, Esq., of Bland Courthouse, and Colonel J. M. French, of this bar, and the prisoner was defended by the following well known law firms and lawyers: Williams Brothers & Potterfield, Johnston & Williams. & Porterfield, Johnston & Williams, Judge George E. Cassell, of the Corpora-tion Court of Radford; Colonel J. B. Peck and T. G. Hardwicke, Esq. The trial developed into a legal battle, which was waged florcely until the end. HISTORY OF THE CASE.

The circumstances attending the mur-der make it of unusual interest. Mc-Croskey was the son-in-law of Lawson, having married his oldest daughter about cloven days before the murder. Lawson-opposed the marriage, but afterwards hecame reconciled and invited the run-aways home.

The trouble between them arose over small piece of land which Lawson had ought and deeded to his oldest daughor his two faughters, and when the idder married he requested that she and ser husband convey one half interest to the younger daughter, which was fused to convey the half interest to his wife's younger sister and attempted to drive Lawson from the land.

A Speaker Before the John W. Daniel Club Says So.

The John W. Daniel Club held an en thusiastic meeting last night. Presiden Stern in his opening address said it was not too early to be talking about good men for the Legislature. He critisised the so-called land-grabbers act.

Prof. Butcher, an elocutionist of Ohio, who is visiting in the city, was called upon to speak. He recalled John W. Daniel's speech at Cincinnati in 1880 in seconding the nomination of General Hancock, and paid an eloquent tribute to the Virginian.

The Professor told the club he did not think Wm. Jennings Bryan was a Democrat but a Populist. "I voted for him, said he, "but it took me a long time to make up my mind to do so, notwithstanding I, and my father before me, have always been Democrats.
